STRADE addresses the long-term security and sustainability of the European raw material supply from European and non-European countries to develop dialogue-based, innovative policy recommendations for a European strategy on future raw-material supplies. STRADE is an EU funded research project and does not necessarily represent the EU's opinion

EU-China workshops in Beijing on 26-27 September 2017

Cooperation on Sustainable Raw Materials for China and Europe

Background of the organizer

The workshops are organized by STRADE, (Strategic Dialogue on Sustainable Raw Materials for Europe) an EU-funded research project focusing on the development of dialogue-based, innovative policy recommendations for a European strategy on future raw materials supplies.

STRADE addresses the long-term security and sustainability of the European raw-material supply from European and non-European countries. Using a dialogue-based approach, the project brings together governments, industry and civil society to deliver policy recommendations for an innovative European strategy on future EU mineral raw-material supplies.

The project holds environmental and social sustainability as its foundation in its approach to augmenting the security of the European Union mineral raw-material supply and enhancing competitiveness of the EU mining industry.

Over a three year period (2016-2018), the STRADE Consortium of 7 independent partners – Oeko-Institute (Germany), SNL Financial (Sweden), Projekt-Consult (Germany), University of Dundee (UK), Georange (Sweden), University of Witwatersrand (South Africa), DMT Kai Batla (South Africa) – brings together practical experience, legislation, best-practice technologies and know-how by addressing:

- Strengthening the European raw-materials sector
- A European cooperation strategy with resource-rich countries
- Internationally sustainable raw-material production & supply
